

Binance P2P Trading Recovery: How to Resolve Failed, Stuck, or Disputed Trades Safely

☎️ 1-(415)-((323))-6879 Recovering funds on Binance P2P involves immediately initiating an appeal, providing evidence of the transaction, and potentially involving local law enforcement if a scam has occurred. ☎️ 1-(415)-((323))-6879 Binance uses an escrow system that holds cryptocurrency during disputes, but recovery is not guaranteed if the user released the crypto before confirming payment.

Steps for P2P Trading Recovery

- File an Appeal Immediately: If you are the victim of a scam or a trade goes wrong, click the "Appeal" button on the P2P order page instantly. ☎️ 1-(415)-((323))-6879
- Gather Evidence: Collect all relevant documentation, including screenshots of the bank transfer, chat logs on Binance, and any other communication. ☎️ 1-(415)-((323))-6879
- Contact Binance Support: Use the official Binance support chat to report the issue. Describe the issue in detail, and if the counterparty is uncooperative, Binance may step in to release the funds from escrow or freeze the trader's account. ☎️ 1-(415)-((323))-6879
- Report to Local Authorities: If significant funds are involved, report the fraud to your local bank and cybersecurity police, as they can initiate an investigation that Binance will cooperate with. ☎️ 1-(415)-((323))-6879

Common Scenarios and Solutions

- Seller Released Without Payment: If you were the seller and released funds before receiving payment, report the case to Binance support immediately.

While harder to recover, Binance will attempt to contact the buyer. 📞1-(415)-((323))-6879

- Buyer Paid, Seller Did Not Release: If you paid but the seller did not release the crypto, Binance agents will contact the seller, and if no response is received, they can manually release the funds from escrow. 📞1-(415)-((323))-6879
- Reversible Payment Methods: If the buyer used a payment method that allows for reversals (e.g., some bank transfers, check deposits), contact your bank immediately to reverse the chargeback. 📞1-(415)-((323))-6879
- Fake Payment Screenshot: If a buyer sends a fake "proof of payment" image, do not release the crypto. Report the user immediately, as Binance can detect and block these users. 📞1-(415)-((323))-6879

Preventive Measures and Safety

- Never Release First: Only release cryptocurrency after confirming that the funds have arrived in your personal bank account. Do not rely on screenshots or SMS notifications. 📞1-(415)-((323))-6879
- Trade with Verified Users: Choose traders with high completion rates and the yellow verification badge. 📞1-(415)-((323))-6879
- Avoid Third-Party Payments: Never accept payments from someone whose bank account name does not match their Binance verified name. 📞1-(415)-((323))-6879
- Stay within the Platform: Do not move conversations or transactions to WhatsApp, Telegram, or other messaging apps. 📞1-(415)-((323))-6879

Note: Be wary of "recovery experts" who contact you after a scam, as they are often scams themselves.
