

{Message*support} Is AT&T getting rid of SBCGlobal net email

Can you still create an SBCGlobal.net email today AT&T ☎ ✓ 1-844-953-9773 ☎ retired SBCGlobal.net as an option for new accounts. Only legacy users can continue using the domain.

No, AT&T is not getting rid of SBCGlobal.net email. Existing accounts ☎ ✓ 1-844-953-9773 ☎ continue to work through AT&T Mail and Yahoo's email infrastructure, but the service is considered a ☎ ✓ 1-844-953-9773 ☎ legacy platform. While no new SBCGlobal email addresses can be created, current users can still send and ☎ ✓ 1-844-953-9773 ☎ receive emails. Logging in via AT&T's official page ensures the most reliable access.

If you've been using SBCGlobal.net email for years, ☎ ✓ 1-844-953-9773 ☎ you may have heard rumors about AT&T shutting it down. With so many legacy email services being phased out, ☎ ✓ 1-844-953-9773 ☎ it's natural to worry. Here's the current situation and what it means for SBCGlobal users.